

Esquire's CLUB & CAMPUS FASHIONS

BY O. E. SCHOEFLER, Esquire's Fashion Director

WELCOME BACK to the Halls of Academe! They may or may not be covered with ivy—but what's on our mind is what's going to be covering you! So let's take the plunge, and get your wardrobe with it!

FIGHT FIRE WITH FIRE—specifically, with one of the new "Three-Alarm Blazers"! This is a new breed of blazer, and one to keep clearly in mind when you're looking for a new sport jacket. They're just what they sound like—colorful!—in reds from brilliant to burgundy, in greens from billiard-table to bottle, in bright blues and, of course, in camel! Linings blaze brighter, too—solids, stripes and patterns to contrast or blend with the blazer. Buttons account for the third alarm, in brilliant ceramic with colorful motifs, or in bright, burnished metals.

TAKE A GIANT STEP into "Giant Plaids," for another new look in sport jackets. These oversize plaid patterns can be found in rich, mellow color combinations like brown with blue, tan and brown with dark red, and light and dark bronze tones. They're cut, of course, with the natural shoulder styling favored on campuses from coast to coast.

"BIG V" GETS A BIG VOTE for still a third idea in sports jackets. This is your favorite herringbone pattern, but it's magnified to a mighty power—especially in black and white or black and gray combinations of hefty, husky yarns! The "Big V" adds a bold note to the classic sport coat this year.

"CLUB CHINOS"—NEW CLASS FOR NEW CLASSES. The new Chinos are neater, trimmer and slimmer than last year—and lots of them will stay that way longer! Practical polyester-blend fabrics contribute extra crease-retention, in or out of the laundromat. These popular pleated pants feature a hip-riding waistband and an added Western touch in frontier-styled pockets. The natural tan tones continue to be most in demand, especially the new bleached "Bone" shade.

HAVE A "HOOT" FOR YOURSELF this year! The craze for hoot-nannies has given its name to a whole new way of dressing on campus. This "Hoot Look" is identifiable, first of all, by the turtle-neck sweater—real or "mock" (the high crew neck)—for a rugged, he-man look. Bright solid colors, stripes of every description and in every direction, argyle and Scandinavian patterns—all will be found this year with the turtle-neck "Hoot Look"!

JACK UP YOUR WARDROBE WITH A HOOT JAC—the casual shirt-jacket that's the "hip" hip-length, fitting loosely over your trim, corduroy Hoot Slacks. Solid or multi-colored stripes highlight the Hoot Jac, which features classic button-down styling. Carried to its logical conclusion, it should be worn with a solid color turtle-neck tee shirt (surprise!) or dickey made of comfortable, practical cotton knit or polyester blend.

FOLK-SING-ALONG IN CORDUROY, which is staging a comeback on the campus in Hoot Slacks. In tan and bronze tones as well as the brighter colors, and with trim, tapered styling, these corduroy slacks coordinate perfectly with all the ingredients of the "Hoot Look."

HELP STAMP OUT SQUARES in your Hoot Boots—today's 2-eyelet demi-boot with welt seaming. You can find them in plain, grained or brushed leathers, with leather or rubber soles—unlined or, for cold-weather quadrangles, lined with fleece or shearing. And for practical, easy-care socks, try on some Hoot Hose—a combination of acrylic fiber and stretch nylon in soft heather mixtures that go-with-everything, everywhere!

THE Social Jet

By SARA JUNE McRAE

The social activities of the past week were really brought to a high-light on Saturday Nov. seven. During the morning MICA sponsored a very successful car wash, and Alpha Gamma Delta held its quarterly altruistic "Breakfast in Bed" project. On Saturday evening, Mercer's Panhellenic sponsored the annual Pledge Dance at which all the sororities presented their new pledge classes to the Greek organizations. At the same time, MICA sponsored an informal "Harvest Moon" party at the Fireman's Clubhouse. Saturday night was also special for MICA Sandra Faulkner who became engaged to Benton Gunter, and Alpha Gam Diane Eyre, who received an engagement ring from DeWayne Nix.

On Sunday, Nov. eight, Chi-O held its annual Parent-Faculty Tea. This year's honorees were Dean Taylor and his wife.

During the week Mercer coeds collected many honors. Chi Omega's Margaret Brice and Martha Walker, and MICA's Julia Hickson, Catherine Jarrett, Donna King, Faye Tyson, and Beverly Williams were initiated into KDE. ADPI's Linda Sue Sisco was elected president of SNEA, MICA Faye Tyson, secretary, and Chi-O's Carole Tapley, treasurer, and Margaret Brice, projects chairman Nominated for the Danforth Foundation Fellowship were MICA's Anne Johnson and Karen Kennedy. Congratulations are also due to the new MICA officers: president Helen Van Vlack; vice president, Linda Smith; secretary, Tricia

Turner; and treasurer, Gayle Bennett. Netta Hefflin, micette is the new pledge sweetheart of MIMA.
