CICERONIAN

Society News

"You're out of order Mr. Speaker; please be seated"—this and similar expressions will be at the Ciceronian society hall next Monday night, when a drill in parliamentary law will be held. Preliminary to the drill Fred K. Salter will give a brief résumé of the origin and purpose of parliamentary law. Then different members of the society will be requested to take the chair and conduct certain imaginary business, according to parliamentary procedure. All will be given a chance to display their knowledge. Mistakes will be corrected. The drill is for the purpose of acquainting all the members of the society with the most important phases of parliamentary law. A good time is promised and all members of the society are requested to be present.

Following the drill an extract from the speech of Robert Toombs on secession will be given by Freshman Jordan. And after the monthly election of officers will be held.

TENNIS PLAYERS' LEADER RETURNS

has had much success in the last two years as coach of the team and during that time the Bear racquetees have gained many victories. During his college days at Wake Forest Professor Folk was the champion of the college and soon after leaving college, he became the single champion of North Carolina.

The first match of the season takes place in less than a month and during the intervening time there will be many fierce contests to decide who will compose the varsity team. Wake Forest will be met here the latter part of April and a little later the team will journey to Birmingham to participate in the S. A. A. A. tournament to be held under the auspices of Howard and Birmingham Southern colleges.

"Elephants a-pilin' teak,
In the sludgy, squdgy creek,
Where the silence 'ung that 'eavy
You was 'arf afraid to speak!"
—Kipling's "Mandalay"

ELEPHANTS

The elephant is man's most intelligent helper. But—consider this interesting comparison:

An elephant is much larger than the electric motor of a "yarder" or logging machine. The "yarder" has the power of twenty elephants; it handles clusters of logs; it works dependably, twenty-four hours at a stretch, if necessary.

Twenty elephants would eat daily 10,000 pounds of green food, which a corps of attendants must gather. A motor "eats" nothing but electricity, supplied at the throw of a switch.

So our own iron elephants are better; and the place for flesh-and-blood elephants is in the jungle or in museums. Some day the museums will also exhibit wash-tubs and old-fashioned irons, and all the other household and industrial tools, whose work can be done by motors so much better and at so little cost.

Two million elephants could not do the work now being done by General Electric Company motors. Whatever the work to be done, whether it needs the power of an elephant or the force of a man's arm, there is a General Electric motor that will do it faithfully for a lifetime at a cost of a few cents an hour.
