ting the serious offense of not wearing a green tie or a freshman cap.

Grows Impatient

The court was now growing impatient, but as footsteps were heard on the stairs leading up to the hall of justice, all became quiet immediately. Nearer and nearer came the sound of the footsteps. The door opened, ever so lightly, and there framed in the doorway stood the defendant surveying his accusers for an instant with a sheepish look on his face.

He noticed, however, that smiles seemed to lighten up the faces of the court, and so he took courage, and with shoulders erect he started toward the defendant's seat. Surely he had been wearing his tie and he could and would prove it.

Something Wrong!

But something must be the matter. Why was everybody laughing and chuckling and pointing at him? The defendant turned toward the judge and lo and behold, he could hardly recognize His Majesty, Judge Chappell, such an extremely broad grin was on his face.

This was conclusive evidence that all was not well. In his dismay and confusion he felt for his freshman cap and was preparing for a rapid exit when the terrible discovery that he did not have it with him was made. Now, trembling quite visibly, his hand went to his neck to reach for his precious tie, and—horror of horrors, it too, was not there! In his eagerness to prepare a good speech for the judge he had forgotten both.

The Right Honorable Colonel Twitty, counsel for the defense, saw the hopelessness of his case. He appealed to the judge that on the count of several technicalities the case be postponed until a later date. The Tribunal adjourned in confusion and amid wild demonstrations.

Same Line

Practically the same line that started against Oglethorpe will begin the game against Georgia.

Following the game with Georgia the Bears will write "finis" on their 1927 schedule in a game with the Wake Forest College Deacons, the battle to be fought in Asheville, N. C., on Thanksgiving Day. The Deacons have not been extra strong this season, but the Bears are expecting a tough battle from them.

There is a bit of pathos in this game for Mercer fans and students, for the encounter will close the football careers of three men who have been largely instrumental in keeping Mercer near the top notch in the S. I. A. A. These three men, Captain Wallace Butts, "Bit" Pierce and Phoney Smith will make their final football play for Mercer against Wake Forest in Asheville Thanksgiving Day.

Phoney, Pierce and Butts Honored Friday Night by Round Table

The members of the Mercer Round Table, honorary organization of the campus, gave a banquet Friday night after the Oglethorpe game in honor of three of their members who had played in their last football game before a Macon audience. Those in whose honor the banquet was especially given were Phoney Smith, Wallace Butts, and Charlton Pierce.

Informal Nature

The affair was of an informal nature and only the members of the Round Table were present.

The organization is planning to give another banquet later on, at which time the honorary organization of Wesleyan College will be invited.

son was urged to become candidate for governor.

Ware to Preside

At present four graduates of the Mercer School of Journalism are employed by the Telegraph. Not only journalism students are invited but all students in the University are urged to hear him Monday night. Robert Ware will introduce the speaker and preside at the meeting.

The Romance About A Man's Hat

"Did you ever see anything more prosaic looking than a man's hat," a customer remarked recently, "and yet," he continued, "it has a whole background of romantic history behind it."

"Do you know why you lift your hat to a friend?" he queried. "It is simply following the custom of the medieval knight, who had a very real reason for doing it. When he approached a person with his helmet removed, he indicated that he considered this person his friend, or otherwise he would not have dared to expose himself to danger."
