

Y. M. C. A. MEETS REGULARLY FOUR NIGHTS OF WEEK

The Y. M. C. A. is holding four vesper each week. They are on Tuesday, Wednesday, Thursday, and Friday evenings at seven o'clock.

The main purpose of the "Y" vesper has always been that of worship and devotion. This purpose will be carried out this year in the services, according to those in charge of the programs.

On Tuesday night Q. K. Barrett brought a message on "The Secret Man." On Wednesday night Dr. Dowell, president of the university, spoke on "The place of Religion in the Life of College Men." Thursday night E. N. Whittaker, of the City Y. M. C. A., was in charge of the services and on Friday night J. C. Jackson, a Mercer student, will bring the message.

Apart from the vesper the "Y" plans to have socials and other entertainments from time to time. A social committee will be appointed at an early date, it was announced.

MERCER STRAY GREEKS WILL MEET IN PHI DELTA HALL MONDAY MORNING

The Stray Greeks, an organization composed of Mercer men who are members of fraternities which do not have chapters here, will hold their first meeting of the year Monday morning at the chapel period in the Phi Delta literary hall. All new Greek fraternity men on the campus whose fraternity does not have a chapter here are urged to be present at the meeting.

The Stray Greeks were organized last year with some of the most outstanding men in campus activities at Mercer in the membership.

Officers for this year are: Hugh Kelley, president; J. Quentin Davidson, vice president, and Will Ed Smith, secretary-treasurer.

EMORY WILL INSTALL PHI BETA KAPPA SOON

The Beta Kappa will establish a chapter at Emory university some time during the present school year.

The sixteenth national council of the united chapters of Phi Beta Kappa, which met recently, decided that Emory's scholastic standards are sufficiently high to warrant the establishment of the Georgia Gamma chapter of the organization there.

Three years ago the Phi Beta Kappa members on the Emory faculty petitioned the national body to install a chapter on the local campus. Since the nation council of the society meets only once every three years, final action was not taken on Emory's petition until the last meeting. The Emory charter was the first one granted at this council, and was passed without a dissenting vote.

Charming Reception Tendered President Dowell and Family

Dr. Dwight Dowell and his family was officially welcomed into the social circle of the university Tuesday evening when members of the faculty honored him and a few friends with a reception at the college library.

Dr. and Mrs. A. P. Montague assisted Dr. and Mrs. Dowell in the receiving line. In addition to the members of the faculty and their families, approximately 25 visitors were present.

Garden flowers and pot plants, intermingled with burning candelabras, were artistically arranged throughout the library and adjoining rooms.

The music for the evening was furnished by the Mary Colquitt orchestra and refreshments were served by several daughters of members of the faculty throughout the reception.

The library was decorated in Mercer's colors, orange and black.

Barrett Is Selected Ministerial Officer

Q. K. Barrett, Boston, Ga., was chosen secretary of the Mercer Ministerial association at a meeting of that body in the Roberts chapel Tuesday night. A majority of the students enrolled at Mercer in the theological department were present.

The Mercer ministers gave the Tuttnall Square Baptist church the right to use their chapel for the purpose of conducting a Sunday school class each Sunday morning. The intermediate class of the church will use the auditorium in the building on the Mercer campus, it has been announced.

Dr. P. H. Anderson, dean of the school of Christianity, will be the speaker at the meeting of the organization next Tuesday night, it has been announced by the president.

Officers of the Ministerial association are: Aubrey Estes, Lutherville, president; James P. Wesberry, Columbia, S. C., vice president and the newly elected secretary.
