vided in sections (b), (c), or (d) of this Article.

(b) If notice is given by the Executive Council or a member of the Discipline Committee to the Judge or Solicitor of the Tribunal of an offense having been committed, which requires prompt attention, and for three days the Tribunal does not try the case, then the Discipline Committee may proceed as it thinks best, and the Tribunal shall have no further jurisdiction over the case unless it is referred back to said Tribunal by the Discipline Committee; Provided, that in order for this rule to apply the notice must state an intention to apply this rule.

(c) In any case where, in the opinion of the Discipline Committee, a faculty member will be a material witness in determining the guilt of a student, said Discipline Committee may, within its discretion, notify the Judge of the Student Tribunal that the Discipline Committee will handle the case directly. After receipt of such notice by the Judge of the Student Tribunal, said Tribunal shall have no further jurisdiction over the case unless it is referred back to said Tribunal by the Discipline Committee.

(e) The Tribunal may transfer any case to the Discipline Committee where it feels unable to get the proper evidence or which, in the opinion of the Judge and Solicitor, ought to be handled by the Discipline Committee without intervention of the fact that such case is not being handled by the Tribunal, and unless it is referred back to the Tribunal by the said Committee the former shall have no further jurisdiction over it.

(f) In all cases heard by the Discipline Committee without first being heard by the Student Tribunal (as provided in sections (b), (c), (d), or (e) of this Article) the punishment inflicted by the Discipline Committee shall be consistent with the punishments prescribed in this agreement for the particular offense committed.

Article III. In case of Major or Capital offenses the defendant may appeal to the Discipline Committee, which may, in its discretion, change the punishment within the limits prescribed for the offense. In cases where Committee received evidence from any person other than a student and which evidence has not been presented to the Tribunal, then and not otherwise, the Discipline Committee may, within its discretion, change the verdict. In any events the Discipline Committee may send the case back to the Tribunal for a new trial, stating in writing its reasons therefor.

Article IV. The membership of the Student Tribunal shall consist of a Judge, Solicitor, Advising Counsel, and Twelve other members, selected in the following manner:

One selected by the first and second year law students. Two selected by the students of the School of Theology. Two by the School of Commerce. Five by the Sophomore, Junior and Senior students (not more than two from any one class) of the School of Liberal Arts, including School of Journalism and School of Education. Two elected by the Freshman class. Special students are for this purpose considered as Freshmen. Each member to sit for the school year unless removed for cause by vote of three-fourths majority of the Tribunal, in which event the vacancy shall be filled from the same group from which he was elected, and in the same manner.

(THIS ARTICLE IS NOT INTENDED TO OPERATE TO CHANGE THE PRESENT MEMBERSHIP OF THE TRIBUNAL, BUT TO AFFECT ALL SUBSEQUENT ELECTIONS).

Article V.

The officers of the Tribunal shall be: The Judge, elected by the Student Body from a group chosen by Law Faculty and consisting of one-third of the membership of the Senior Law Class; the Clerk, chosen by the Tribunal from its membership; the Solicitor, elected by the Senior Law Class from the same group from which the Judge was elected; and the Defense Counsel, elected by the Senior Law Class from the same group from which the Judge and Solicitor were elected; and such assistants to the Clerk, Solicitor, and Defense Counsel, as they may, any of them, appoint from the Student Body.

Article VI.

(a) The Judge shall preside over the meetings of the Tribunal, and make rulings on all questions of procedure, consistent with any rules which the Tribunal may have prescribed. He shall sentence each defendant convicted by the Tribunal consistent with the terms of punishment attached to the offense. (b) The Clerk shall keep a record of all proceedings, and shall give to the Secretary of the Discipline Committee, after each meeting of the Tribunal, a summary of the proceedings, including the names of all persons indicted, or tried, and the disposition made of each case. He shall at all times keep a more detailed record of the proceedings of the Tribunal open for inspection by the Executive Council of the University, or any member of the Discipline Committee at any reasonable time. In case of Major and Capital offenses the Clerk shall keep verbatim notes of the testimony as part of said record.

(c) The Solicitor shall bring proper proceedings before the Tribunal against any student accused of a breach of discipline; shall make investigation of any cases needing investigation whether or not a case is being made against any defendant.

(d) The Defense Council shall properly defend any accused student unless said student chooses some other student to defend him.

(e) Any of the above officers who is authorized in Article V to appoint assistants may delegate any part of his duties to such assistants but shall himself be responsible to the Tribunal for the proper performance of the duties.

Article VII. The Tribunal shall have the power to summons any student as a witness, in any case or investigation. Such summons shall be issued in writing by the Judge, Solicitor, or Defense Counsel, and delivered to the witness summoned or delivered at his room a reasonable time before he is expected to appear: Provided, that any person who issues a summons for a malicious purpose may be adjudged guilty of contempt of court. Any witness who, after proper summons, refuses or fails to appear or refuses to answer a proper question asked, may be adjudged guilty of contempt of court.

Article VIII. All proceedings (unless otherwise ordered by the Executive Council) shall be public and the Cluster shall have the privilege of publishing the results, but the accused may request the Tribunal and it may assent that it be not published. In case he does not so request he will be deemed to have waived his privilege.

Article IX. The Tribunal shall have the privilege of making its own rules of procedure consistent with this charter, or electing from its membership any necessary officers in addition to those already mentioned in this Charter. In cases involving violations of rules imposed by the Senior Class upon Freshmen as such, but in no other cases, such rules of the Tribunal may permit the appointment of a committee from the membership of the Tribunal to hear the case without the presence of the rest of the Tribunal, except such officers as are necessary. This clause shall include the privilege of disbaring, for cause, a student practicing before the Tribunal.

Article X. All fines levied by the Tribunal shall be payable to the Clerk, who shall pay them to the Treasurer of the University, and receive a receipt therefor. The Treasurer of the University shall add sums so paid to him to the Student Activities Fund.

Article XI. All fines shall be payable in one week from date of levy. All fines not paid when due shall be automatically doubled. If the fine is not paid when due, or within one week thereafter, the delinquent may be adjudged guilty of contempt of court and punished therefor. Payment shall be interpreted to mean payment in money or any paper or security acceptable to the Treasurer of the University.

Article XII. Notice in advance must be given the Secretary of the Executive Council of any session of the Student Tribunal and the purpose for which the meeting is called.

CHAPTER IV. DISAGREEMENTS AND TERMINATION.

ected historian of the class of '28. He was a member of the Mercer round Table Club, belonged to the Sigma Upsilon literary fraternity, and served as president of the Mercer Sunday school class at the First Baptist church.

Progress as a Student Notable Several years ago Fred was taken by his father to the Washington county public school to receive the rudiments of learning. After the first few hours of the first day he became used to the scholastic process and soon developed an attitude of hard study which virtue has characterized his life every since. After nearly eight years of this occupation graduation came and he was chosen as "first honor" student.

Gets Early Start With the indomitable spirit to realize himself an educated man he took the next step and entered the Sandersville high school. Here for four years he was punctilious. Not being content to learn only the routine work laid out by the teacher, he took debating as a means of improvement, and soon represented his school in the district debates.

Fred has never affiliated himself with any form of athletics, but he has been careful to apply all available natural methods to the upkeep of his body.

He took the classical course in high school and made a special study of Latin which was destined to manifest itself in college. Graduation came after four years, and Fred was the valedictorian. This honor called for a speech and the accomplished young student took "The American Youth" as the subject. For this achievement in high school he was offered a scholarship to Mercer university, which he attended the following year.

most of the copy, edits all of it, sells the ads and handles the business end of the publication.

Praises Folk "The training I received in the Mercer school of Journalism under Prof. E. E. Folk, Miss Virginia Garner and Mr. Mark Ethridge I consider to be of inestimable value," the young editor said. "I learned many things about news values, reporting, make-up, editorial writing and many other things which I do not believe I could have possibly learned by working a corresponding time for a newspaper.

While at Mercer I used to have the keenest admiration for Professor Folk's quick recognition of a news story. Professor Folk had the ability of seeing a story where the ordinary reporter would not see one and the ability to "hit the front page" with stories that others would get only two or three paragraphs on the inside of the paper. I am chiefly ingratiated to Mr. Ethridge because of his teachings on the ethics and functions of a newspaper. Mr. Ethridge and Mr. Folk I believe to be two of the finest newspapermen to be found anywhere."

Wrote for Cluster The first story Ware ever had printed was a feature in The Cluster. "I'm sure I'll never get the same thrill out of having anything printed as I did from seeing this story spread out over the front page," he said.

In his senior year, Ware was Mercer correspondent of the Macon News and advertising manager of The Cluster. He says he made an average of almost $60 a month between the two jobs and obtained experience that he would not "trade for two or three 'B' grades."

Ware started his paper without a cent of capital. He had arranged for thirty days credit with his printer. The weekly is a four page, seven column sheet.

administered. I heard the sopho whispering outside my door one evening and realizing what was coming I invited them in without any argument. Non-resistance is sometimes a good policy.

"But John W. Jenkins, a classmate of mine, who is a professor at the University of Georgia, had a different conception of the most efficient way of handling sophomores. When they came for his hide he grabbed an old rusty horse pistol which he had in his room and told them to come ahead. But they didn't. After that he was known as 'Pistol Jenkins'."

Prof. Smalley spent his preparatory school days at Locust Grove. It was at this school that he became enthusiastic toward scholarship. The boys at the institution were of an unusually high calibre, intensely interested in their work. And so he easily conceived the idea that all boys felt the same way, and that colleges were places in which the desire for learning was paramount. "One of the big disappointments of my life was when I came to Mercer and became acquainted with general lack of purposefulness in college men," he said.

Take M. A. at Columbia In his junior and senior years at Mercer he was an assistant teacher in the math department. After the war he taught for a while at Locust Grove. In 1923 he came to Mercer to teach English. During the past few summers he studied at Columbia where he took his M. A.

Although Dean Smalley preferred the oral athletics of debating to those of a more prearranging nature, he always took an interest in Mercer's teams; and today he is rarely absent from any of the games. "In my time Mercer didn't have much of a football team but in baseball we shined. In most of the ball games with Georgia and Tech we came out the victors."

Mike Johnston, one of the best newspapermen ever graduated from Mercer, is with the New York Sun. He graduated from here several years ago and until recently was on the staff of the Macon Telegraph.
