BEARS OVERWHELM W. & J. PRESIDENTS IN THRILLING ENCOUNTER ON HOME FIELD

30 TO 7 IS SCORE IN FAST CONFLICT; AERIAL ROUTE USED

Lichter, Davino And Lee Make Final Bow To Local Fans

BLOODWORTH IS STAR

Entire Team Excells Before Small Crowd Of Fifteen Hundred People

The Mercer Bears won a scintillating victory, last Friday, from a strong Washington-Jefferson team, 30 to 7. It was the last home game of the season for the Bears, and the last Macon appearance of the team's three seniors, Harry Lichter, Al Davino and Bobby Lee. These three men will graduate next June.

Using the strength that was newly found two weeks ago against Stetson, the Bears scored four touchdowns and a field goal, at the same time holding the invaders to a lone touchdown. The stars of the game, and there were many, shone with great brilliance in the smashing victory. Bob Lee, he of the famous loping stride, started the ball rolling when, after two minutes of the first quarter, he grabbed a Presidential fumble out of the air, and ran it 25 yards for a touchdown.

This was the first of four: Ed Varner the flashy sophomore, scored one after his pal Jack Morris had run the ball to the W. & J. six yard stripe, and Bloodworth, the bulwark of the Mercer offense, scored two, the first on an end run of 44 yards, and the other on a thrilling touchdown run of 90 yards on a kickoff.

The sterling defensive play of Lichter, Williamson, Curry, Porter, Ward, Warlick, NeSmith, Tyson and Altonen was little short of amazing. Time and again, these men threw the President backs for losses which forced them to kick. Gilbert, who relieved Lichter, played a beautiful game at center. Hemple and Mamalakis were headed up all the time they were in the game, and nary a first down was made through either of these two men.

Outplayed and outguzzled, the Presidents surely were, but they put up a fierce resistance to the sustained drives of the Mercerians. They had two or three backs who

DR. CLARK STARTS NEW HISTORY CLUB

Mercer Dean Instrumental In Beginning Southern History Group

Formation of the Southern Historical Association partially thru the instrumentality of Dr. John B. Clark, dean of the arts school, has been announced here, recently. The historical association will be affiliated with the Southern Political association, whose convention Dr. Clark attended, November 1-3.

The season was featured by speeches of Dr. W. J. Shepherd, president of the American Political association, and of Prof. A. H. Holcombe, chairman of the same organization. Dr. Shepherd spoke on "The Philosophy of the New Deal" and Dr. Holcombe on "The Experimental Attitude and the Art of Government."

A quarterly magazine will be sponsored by the new Historical association and will be published at the Louisiana State university, it was announced.

Among the colleges and universities other than Mercer represented at the convention were: Duke, Alabama, Louisiana State, Birmingham-Southern, Auburn, Georgia, Kentucky, and others.

The Political association convention is an annual event, being held each November.

were sure scorers if they ever were allowed to go loose, but the defensive linemen allowed it only once. Early in the last quarter, the Pennsylvanians scored on a line buck from the four yard line, but that was all the scoring they could do during the whole game.

In the second quarter, Morris who subbed for the injured Lee, ran a reverse around his own left end from the thirty to the W. & J. six. From here, Billy Smith made a yard at center, Bloodworth made two more at tackle and Varner carried the ball over for the score, the second of the game. Bloodworth's kick for the point was wide.

Taking Gilbert's kick on his own 25 at the start of the second, King of the Presidents carried a march that led to the Bears' twenty, but here the line held and Mercer kicked out of bounds on the W. & J. forty. The third quarter was about even, with Mercer having

MERCER PLAYERS ELECT HARDEMAN LEADER FOR YEAR

Frosh Bow to Sophs In Campus Flag Rush

Day Is Tragic For Morton As He Misses Chance

Mercer's freshmen are still wearing "rat" caps and green ties; they lost the flag rush to the sophomores Thursday afternoon, Oct. 31.

With that loss went all chance of being freed of upperclass domination. Five minutes of furious fighting failed to bring them victory in the annual fight for the colors, conducted on the university campus. A freshman victory would have meant freedom from sophomore supervision, and the doffing of caps and ties, traditional rig of the first-year men.

Tragedy for Morton The day had an element of tragedy in it for Clyde Morton, a freshman from Gray, whose chance to join the campus immortals as one of the few freshmen to capture the colors, slipped away. Just as his fingers were about to close on the tantalizing bits of ribbon, securely affixed to a tree limb 10 feet in the air, he was pulled down by his own roommate, Harold Hilton.

The traditional ducking in pools along the line of march to Wesleyan and the downtown district was missing this year, the university physician ruling it out because of the prevalence of Dengue fever. But the parade through Wesleyan conservatory, the snake dance down Cherry street, and the impromptu cheering sections formed in stores and hotel lobbies was as vociferous as in years past.

Freshmen and sophomores in the line of march were guests of the Ritz theater management after the parade where a short subject showed another college going "rah rah" in the approved movie manner.

MAKE WORLD SAFE FOR DIFFERENCES MARCUSON PLEADS

Nationalism Seen as Great Danger By Rabbi in Chapel Speech

SCORES EXPLOITATION

Real Purpose Of Education Is To Broaden One's Horizon He Says

Make the world safe for differences was the plea of Rabbi I. E. Marcuson in a speech to the student body at the chapel hour Wednesday morning.

Rabbi Marcuson, of Temple Beth Israel, declared that regimentation was choking off individuality. Uniformity was seen as a blow to individuality, without which there is no progress, he declared.

Among other things he affirmed that "The real purpose of education is to broaden one's horizon. Unless it does that, time spent in seeking an education is lost."

Greatest Danger "The greatest practical danger this country faces today is the steady growth of nationalism," he added. "The fetish of nationalism is the blood-starved idol, the Moloch of our times."

"The last administration was founded on the principle of 'rugged individualism.' It became one of our national shibboleths. It was believed that the state had no

A tuition savings trust fund has been created by the alumni of Princeton University (Princeton, N. J.) which is designed to help satisfy the need for scholarship funds at that institution.

TEAM SPIRITS SOAR AFTER OVERWHELMING WIN OVER W.&J. CLUB

Sophomore Players Show Big Improvement As Last Half Of Season Begins

BEAR TEAM FAVORED

Pictures Of Moccasins Displayed In Gymnasium In Preparation For Game

By ALFRED DAVINO The offensive of the Mercer drive this week, is the Chattanooga game tomorrow. The Bears, working all week in high spirits, because of the great victory over Washington-Jefferson, are in good shape with the exception of two or three men. Charley Browne and Al Davino are suffering with bad knees; Henry Allen is still limping slightly with a bruised muscle in his leg, and Altonen is bothered with a charleyhorse. The rest of the boys seem to be in best condition of the season.

Coach Russell expects a hard battle with the Moccasins, who have bowed to the Bears for the past two years; they started out just about as the Bears did, in poor form, but just as the Bears recovered during the last two games, so did the Moccasins come back after finding themselves, to win victories in their last three games. The game celebrates the Chattanooga Homecoming, and the team is looking for revenge for the two defeats, the Bears handed them.

The Mercer lineup probably will be the same as that for the W. & J. encounter, with perhaps one or two changes in the forward wall. Altonen, who played against the Northerners, will start at his regular guard position, with Tyson getting the nod at the other side of Lichter, who also is scheduled to open against the Moccasins. Mamalakis will see lots of service, as will Oxo Curry at tackle. Henry Allen, the star of the Stetson game, was on the sidelines during the President battle but his injured leg is in good enough shape to permit him to see a good bit of action in the Moccasin fray. One Gilbert, the junior who has replaced Harry Lichter all season, is a good defensive man to be found, and Russell will use him a great part of the game.

The football stars of yesterday are to be admitted free to one game each year, if the proposed plan of the secretary of the University of South Carolina Alumni is accepted. It's about time something was done for the football heroes of former days, but we think that a season ticket to all the games played by the player's Alma Mater would not be too much.

SIGN OF THE TIMES According to the Technician of the North Carolina State College, the honor system of the university has been abolished. First the students, then the faculty voted to abolish the system.

Two Washington and Lee Freshmen were recently arrested for violation of the Virginia anti-hitchhiking law. Now one of the Freshmen's father has filed a damage suit for $2,000 against the Constable, who picked them up, the mayor, who fined them, and the traffic officer, who arrested them, charging false arrest. Considering that the fine was only $2.50, that's what we would term a good investment.
