

MERCER STUDENTS GET APPOINTMENTS

(Continued from Page One) fraternity and was manager of the freshman football team last fall. Emmett Bonner, a freshman at Mercer last year, entered the Academy after his appointment last summer. While at Mercer Bonner was a Kappa Alpha pledge and a member of Phi Eta Sigma.

NeSmith to Army

Eugene NeSmith, senior in the arts school, received an appointment to West Point last fall through Congressman Vinson. NeSmith is a member of Blue Key honorary fraternity, Kappa Phi Kappa educational fraternity, and a charter member of the "M" Club. He was a member of the Mercer varsity football and basketball teams.

Jack Moseley, Mercer sophomore, dropped out of school after the fall term to study for a West Point examination in March.

FOR MEN ONLY

(Continued from Page Two)

taken for a nut on the last trip to Milledgeville? . . . you can't fool those guards . . . Al Owen and the Tharpe gal have called it quits . . . he's on his eighth whirlwind romance to date . . . watch yourself, Freda . . . Skipworth and Eleanor Anthony are making moon eyes . . . we saw 'em . . . Lucas-Smith has a bodyguard . . . Editor Bernd and the Groover child can't decide . . . she has a man with a Packard . . . au revoir, Bernd . . . the co-op romance continues . . . Clusters will be printed in Macon from now on . . . and may come out on time . . . The M Club will put on a show at the Tavern, March 6th or thereabouts . . . ducats for a price to be barked later . . . A lot of comment pro and con on last wk's editorial . . . but we stand firm in our conviction . . .

JIM'S JAMS

(Continued from Page Two)

him I bet it sure is a big one. I told him too, that this man sure was smart to make such a big plain as this. This man was kinda old to. He said he had lived millions and millions of years. I started to ask him when he was born but the way he talked it had been such a long time that he couldn't remember exactly when he was born. But he said something else that I didn't know what to think about. It was. That he made all the world and God and Jesus. And I just laughed and laughed cause I knew all the time that he didn't do it.

When we was coming on back from the place I told one of the boys that there sure was a lot of people there to come just out of one state and he said that that was

STUDENTS HOLD CLINIC AT STATE HOSPITAL

(Continued from Page One) ficiency. Dr. Yarbrough said that in these cases there is no hope of mental improvement.

The institution at present has about five thousand inmates, and about eighteen doctors. Dr. Yarbrough called attention to the fact that at the present time the state is providing no funds for research in curative measures.

Just a few of them out of the state of Georgia. And I told him to that when you look around, you do see a lot of people all over the state that kinda remind you of the people that we saw there.

Your loving boy,
JIM.

Says the Daily Illini:
"Courtship consists of a man chasing a woman until she catches him"

BERND, ASHMORE TO ATTEND PRESS MEET

(Continued from Page One) discussions will be conducted. One, "Editorial, News and Make-up", will be led by Professor Edward C. Crouse, of the Grady School, and the other, "Advertising and Business Problems", will be led by Professor J. Edward Gerald, of the University of Missouri School of Journalism, who also will lead the round table discussions of the Press Institute.

At a dinner for the GCPA members, Chess Abernathy, editor of the Cobb County Times, Marietta, will be the principal speaker.

The Collegiate Press Association was organized in Athens, May 5, 1933, under the sponsorship of the Grady School and the University of Georgia chapter of Sigma Delta Chi, national professional journalistic fraternity. The expressed objectives were: (1) To provide a closer association among the college journalists of Georgia; (2) to provide a means of recognizing meritorious journalistic efforts through the annual award of suitable distinctions; (3) to raise the standards of the college press of Georgia; and (4) to foster among college journalists of Georgia an interest in journalism not only as a profession but as an important social science.

ONE-MINUTE INTERVIEWS

(Continued from Page One) in inter-collegiate athletics.

When we interview GRACE FINLAY, she declares by all means the inter-collegiate sports should not be abandoned because the football players at least attract co-eds to Mercer.

So far everyone seems to answer our question in the negative, but there are other views. BILLY KNOX, for example, states:

Less money and less emphasis should be put on Mercer's inter-collegiate sports and more money and emphasis put on the athletics within the college itself.

One student, who has already received his varsity letter from Mercer, would not give his name for publication but declared he would rather see the inter-collegiate sports abandoned if they are not improved in the future.

Then RAYMOND RIGDON says:

I do not think inter-collegiate athletics should be wholly abandoned, but I do think more stress should be put on scholastic activities.

We question another student and, after he has given his opinion ask if it can be published.

Not with all these big football players they've got around here to jump on me — he asserts.

But regardless of what other students might say, we leave the following question for you, and if you answer it, you will have answered the original one.

To which college are the best type of students attracted — that which is noted for its scholastic standing, or that which is temporarily noted for its football team?

SERMON TODAY ENDS RELIGIOUS SERVICES

(Continued from Page One)

words of Christ "Be thou faithful unto death", Dr. McConnell took the "Christian Life of Heroism" as his theme. He called the students' attention to the necessity of facing danger, difficulty, and even death for Christian heroism. "Jesus is challenging us to be faithful to Him and to bring into the world the things for which Christ stood," he declared.

Christian Business

Thursday Dr. McConnell spoke on Jesus' words "As my Father hath sent me into the world, even so send I you into the world." He pointed out how these words are not only a commission, but a business, and a victory which a person cannot afford to be without. "No matter what may be a man's secular employment, if he claims to be a Christian," he stated. In conclusion he called attention to the fact that the acceptance of that commission places us in divine service and is the measure of success or failure as comes to mankind.

Lapsing definition of a play-writing class: "Dramatic School"

By mild ripe tobacco we mean just this —

FIRST—ripened in the sunshine... and picked leaf by leaf from the right part of the stalk when fully ripe.

THEN—each day's picking cured right by the farmer . . . at the right time and in the right way . . . no "splotching" or brittleness, but every leaf of good color and flavor.

FINALLY—bought in the open market...re-dried for storage...then packed in wooden hogsheads to age and mellow for two years or more until free from harshness and bitterness.

That's what we mean by mild, ripe tobacco. And that's the kind of tobacco we use to give Chesterfields their milder, better taste.

Picking leaf tobacco in the "Bright" tobacco fields of Virginia and the Carolinas.

Type of barn used for "curing" leaf tobacco.

Outstanding
for mildness
for better taste

Hogsheads of leaf tobacco "aging" for two years in storage warehouses.