president; Harry Diamukes, Macon, treasurer; and Sam Howell, Cartersville, secretary. The officers were elected to hold office during the fall quarter, but will be eligible for re-election to their positions, it was said.

The reconciliation of the two councils came about Sunday as a direct effort on the part of both old councils to form a new and effective governing body for the campus social fraternities. The council adopted a constitution drawn up last week by a reorganization committee composed of Charles Brown, Kappa Alpha; Walter Doyle, Pi Kappa Phi; Jack Gaudier, Kappa Sigma; and Will Johnson, Phi Delta Theta. The committee was the same joint committee selected last week to formulate the new council.

All nine Mercer fraternities have joined the new organization. They are: Kappa Alpha, Alpha Tau Omega, Sigma Alpha Epsilon, Phi Delta Theta, Kappa Sigma, Sigma Pi, Pi Kappa Alpha, Pi Kappa Phi, and Alpha Lambda Tau.

The rules of the new council provide for a governing body made up of two representatives from each of the chapters. The body will regulate fraternity matters on the campus and attend to the joint social functions held by the fraternities from time to time. The council will take over trophies formerly owned by the old Pan-Hellenic council and award them as usual or as they see fit.

According to an announcement released after the session Sunday the council has started negotiations with several orchestras, including Johnny Long, Dave Burnside, Bennett's Music, and several others, for homecoming entertainments October 23 and 24. Bob Crandall and Francis Blanks were appointed by the president to arrange for the dances.

GLENN ELECTED

The date for pledging by the three Mercer sororities was set up two weeks at the meeting Wednesday. Thus the new system of preferential bidding which was established here last Fall by the council, will be explained to the new coeds on October 15, with the official pledge day coming on Monday, Oct. 19, instead of November 2 as previously announced.

Members of the council who were present at the meeting Wednesday are: Eleanor Anthony, president of Theta Sigma Beta; Neil Fincher, president of Alpha Kappa; Nellie Hill, president of the Phi Omega; Edna Steger, representative for the Phi Omega; Helen Glenn, representative for Alpha Kappa, and Mary Emma Benton, representative for Theta Sigma Beta.

Charter members of the organization were also present at this first meeting of the year. They were: Louise Moore, former president of Alpha Kappa; Mildred Donnan, former president of Phi Omega; Elizabeth Willingham, former president of Theta Sigma Beta; and representatives Emma Norris of Phi Omega, Eleanor Anthony of Theta Sigma Beta, Helen Glenn of Alpha Kappa, Martha Dean Stewart, a former representative from Theta Sigma Beta was unable to attend the meeting.

HOMECOMING
