Frat Socials Cram Week-end Calendar

By FIELDS VARNER

ALPHA LAMBDA TAU, KAPPA SIGMA and KAPPA ALPHA entertained last week-end with social functions.

KAPPA ALPHA presented a silver cigarette case to Elliot Dunwoody at its banquet Monday night. The gift was in appreciation of his work with the chapter.

The banquet was held at Christ church; and an initiation followed the banquet. Honor guests were John S. Candler II, province commander; C. W. May, executive secretary of the order, and Bishop Mikell, former knight commander of the order.

Saturday night the ALT's honored their sponsor, Miss Doris Dent, with a supper dance at the Kiwanis lake club house. Miss Dent left this week for Huntington college where she has enrolled for the remainder of the year. Those attending the dance were:

- Horace Richter
- Malcolm Thomas
- Doris Dent
- Helen Klinefelter
- Harold Shepard
- Beverly Craigmiles
- John Dupree

Stags present were Candler Martin, Bill Howland, Claude Bagley, George Hunnicut, Thomas White, Louis Lighter, Ben Ross, Frank Pride, Carling Schatzman and Dodie Northington.

Kappa Sig's Have Open House Sunday night the pledges of Kappa Sigma entertained the members and their dates with an open house at 99 Coleman avenue. Dates included Katherine Rankin, Anne Adams, Alice Crandall, Nell Tucker, Marion Anderson, Pattie Lou Swallum, Cora Johnson and Joyce Daniels. Mrs. M. C. Morgan, house mother, and Lamar Sizemore, chapter president, acted as hosts.

KA's Roast Wieners Members, pledges and their dates were entertained with a wiener roast at Connally's cabin last Friday night. Those attending were:

- Billy Murphy

- Neil McGehee
- Anne Besetti
- Ruth Wilson

Stags were: Hendley Napier, L. A. Cumbie and Drew Calhoun.

Six Initiated by Phi Mu Iota chapter of Phi Mu added six to its membership Wednesday night. Those initiated were Pattie Lou Swallum, Gwendolyn Nottingham, Rosa Wadley, Shirley Bakewell, Eleanor Powell and Zeph Blaine. Following the initiation a supper was held at the New Yorker in honor of the new members.

Betty Grable Honorary Sponsor At a recent "bull session" over at the Phi Delt house it was decided to appoint Betty Grable, movie actress, as honorary sponsor for the Georgia Gamma chapter. A telegram sent to Hollywood issued the invitation. A few days ago an acceptance and also an autographed picture to the chapter was received from her.

Some brothers even thought that she would be able to attend the Phi Delt formal next month, however, due to previous engagements she will not be present.

Culpepper, Suber Pledge SAE Sigma Alpha Epsilon announces the pledging of James Culpepper, Tifton, and Harry Suber, Macon.

Saturday night the Alpha Tau Omega's will entertain their dates with a supper dance at the Hotel Dempsey Tavern. The Phi Delt's have pledged J. T. Hogan, Jr., of Macon. The members of Alpha Delta Pi honored their pledges and alumni with a supper at the New Yorker last Wednesday evening. The ATO's are occupying a new office for fraternity business in their Roberts hall suite.

Stamps-Baxter Quartet Will Give Program

Deacon Utley's Stamps-Baxter Smile-A-While quartet will return to Mercer for a concert of "melody, harmony and tears" next Wednesday night.

The program, under the sponsorship of the Student council, is scheduled to start at 8:30 p. m. Twenty-cent tickets are now on sale at the book store in the co-op and can also be purchased from council members on the campus.

Receipts from the program will be used by the council to pay for the Homecoming bell purchased last quarter. Any left-over funds will be used as down payment on a nickelodeon to be placed in the Co-op.

"If a majority of students prefer, we can use the additional receipts for a party instead of a jook organ," said Horace Richter, president of the Student council. "Other campus activities usually scheduled for Wednesday night will be arranged so that there will be no conflict with the quartet program."

Richter urged students to give the program publicity in Macon and on the campus to ensure a large attendance.

Selective Draft May Get Student

Only one Mercer student of the 130 who registered last October under the Selective Service act is likely to be called for military service in the near future, Maj. J. D. Blair, Mercer registrar, announced today.

Rex McIlvaine, basketball star and football letterman, is the only student who may be called for service in June.

The registrants were advised Monday by Major Blair to enter the branch of service in line with their special aptitude, should their order number indicate their being called this summer.

"Several branches of the service offer opportunities for commissions," Maj. Blair said.

Of the 130 registrants, 25 are ministerial students. These are automatically exempt.

Kappa Alpha Chapter Honors Elliot Dunwoody

Love Wins Out Over Law in Moot Court Divorce Action

By JACK DEWITT

The hilarious domestic relations of the Wilson family were aired in the staid environs of Moot court, Tuesday night.

David Mincey and Sanders Lane were seeking a divorce for their client, Margaret Stahl Wilson, alias Jean Cousins, from Frank J. (Jack Nesbitt) Wilson. Mr. Wilson had as his defending attorneys, the Messrs. Frank Lawson and Chip Peabody.

The case of Wilson vs. Wilson was called to order at 7:30 by Mr. Snow, and the young barristers plunged into the melee head-first.

Lane Charges Cruelty

Sanders Lane opened the case with an epic of narration in which he told of the cruelty suffered by the plaintiff at the hands of her husband. Dramatically unfolding the tale of the blow that brought matters to a head, he told in vivid detail the story of a slap in the face that she suffered at the hands of the defendant.

Mrs. Wilson was the first witness brought to the stand and she told her story with a heart-warming simplicity. She spoke of coming to the South to obtain a chivalrous husband. One that had perfect manners, knew where to put his coat when he took it off, what to do with his feet when he sat down, in short a perfect Southern gentleman.

She told of a sudden mess that was her husband that returned home on shaky feet many nights a week. These evenings of fun and entertainment of his, gave him that much described "morning after the night before feeling" and it seems that he would hurt her feelings and make her suffer mental agony, all under the guise of selling insurance.

Cherchez La Femme

Lois Prosser, emerged from a retirement effected by the flu, and ably took the part of Alice Foye, a gum-chewing, gold-digging clerk in the dress shoppe managed by Mrs. Wilson. She told of being squired to the local hot spots by the chivalrous Mr. Wilson.

Dorsey Is Star Witness

Ed Dorsey in the role of Charlie Seagram, a bartender at the Dempsey gin mill, testified as to seeing the couple in his bar many times. He stated that they often got "high" and their knees became loose-jointed, voices loud, and acted in a wild manner. When examined by Attorney Lawson as to whether or not they could have been "trucking," he replied—that people—did not "truck" in this way, and that from his long experience in the matter they were "tight."

Mr. Wilson got on the stand at long last, and the defense attempted to prove by his and other testimony that Mrs. Wilson was the habitual drinker of the family.

When asked when he had taken

Music Major Now Possible

Mercer students may get an AB degree with a major in music next year, as a feature of the new Mercer-Wesleyan cooperation program. Dean John B. Clark announced this week.

Beginning the program of coordination between the colleges, a series of faculty meetings and joint committees to study the curricula of the colleges is planned, with a view to eliminating duplication of small classes.

Contrary to previous announcement, courses in ceramics, art and sculpture will not be offered next fall, although it is hoped that such courses will be made available for Mercer students in the future, Dean Clark stated.

Prof. Feild Completes Bar Journal Article

Prof. David M. Feild, acting dean of the Law school, has recently completed a research paper on Executive Control Over Tenure of Public Office. It will appear in the next issue of the Georgia Bar Journal.
