

Gone Are The Days . . .

Fun And Mischief at Sherwood Seems to be Over for Present

[Editor's Note: This story was written last winter by a Mercerian who graduated in June. It was never used, and is still timely.]

By SAMBO SAMS

The days of fun and mischief in Sherwood Hall seem to be gone and gone forever.

Life in Sherwood used to be almost as big an adventure as a trip down the Amazon on a two-plank raft—and believe it or not, just about as dangerous. No one knew one hour what peril the next hour would bring.

Days were packed full of thrills such as buckets of water crashing down on unwary heads and it wasn't uncommon to walk into your room after a several hours absence and find the place overrun with an odor of hydrogen sulfide.

Nights were filled with the dangers of itching powders that filled pajama pants, quinine and shaving lotion being poured into open snoring mouths, wires stuck through key holes to make the occupant of a locked room miss breakfast. Black paint was often put on the telephone receivers and commodes and furious water battles took place between the different floors, with the porch furniture piled high to give the effect of Niagara Falls in an angry moment.

Them days is gone forever. There's nothing to do in Sherwood, but study. Gone forever are the days when boys would be boys. All of us are now young gentlemen of the first degree and don't think it isn't boring.

Mother Montague has finally achieved her life-long ambition—the boys respect her and her wishes, and it seems that she will live and die without ever experiencing that nervous breakdown that she has been promising us for years.

The preachers seem to be the chief source of disturbance and their chief fault is greeting one too heartily and too early in the morning.

Everyone else shuffles along the halls in subdued boredom, and mumbles a bored hello in a bored whisper to all of the other inmates who are equally bored.

It's so boring to be a gentleman.

'Round He Goes

continued from page 1

that some people want to do all of their lives, and die still wanting. Would you like to live on a ranch for a while, as though you were just one of the guys? Wouldn't it be fun to work your way over seas to numbers of foreign countries on a fruit liner? And what do you think about working in the "Varsity," in Hot-lanta?

One day when Louis was down in the heart of Mexico, he gave out of gas, thirty miles from a town. He went to the little Spanish house nearby and tried gas. After a long and heated to tell a man that he needed some gas. After a long and heated explanation, the Mexican said, "Yes, Yes," and came and poured some water in the tank.

"Cities in France," Louis said, "are modern." They use our ideas. Occasionally you see United States cars on the streets. Even some with 'Ford' on them."

When I asked Louis why he liked traveling so much, besides telling me it ran in the family, he said, "Education without travel is like buying a lighthouse without a harbor to put it in." Say, you home-oving guys, that's something to think about.

He came to college to get a basic education. "All roads have to have a foundation. If you know the history before you see them, roads are just like a story."

Why did Louis pick Mercer? I quote him in saying, "Because most of the leading men of the state came to Mercer."

Do your Christmas mailing for boys on foreign duty NOW.

BSU to Have Weiner Roast

The BSU will hold its second major social event tonight with a weiner roast at an undisclosed place. Gwen Reed is in charge. "Lucy" will be on hand to make however many trips are necessary for transportation, and the entire student body is invited.

Time of leaving is 6:30 from the campus church. A poster is placed on the co-op bulletin board for the names of those wishing to go, and noon today is the deadline for signing.

The first Greater Council meeting of the BSU was held at the church Tuesday at 5:00 p. m., regular weekly meeting time of the Council. Thirty were present.

Whereas the Council is made up of BSU officers and the representatives of all organizations in the BSU, the Greater Council brings together officers, committeemen and the officers of each unit organization.

The next Greater Council meeting will be held Tuesday, October 20.

LET'S GO TO CHURCH SUNDAY

CHEROKEE HEIGHTS BAPTIST, Rev. J. S. Winn, Pastor

Sunday School 10:15 B. T. U. 6:55
Morning Worship 11:30 Evening Worship 8:00
"The Church Will Win" "Those Two Commandments"

MULBERRY STREET METHODIST, Dr. George Stoves, Pastor

Sunday School 10:00 Young Peoples Forum 7:00
Morning Worship 11:30 Evening Worship 8:00
"To Be or Not to Be" "The Way of Salvation"

FIRST BAPTIST, Dr. J. M. Trimmer, Pastor

Morning Worship 11:30 B. T. U. 7:00
Sunday School 10:00 Evening Worship 8:00
"Spiritual Priorities" "When Failure is Success"

TATTNALL SQUARE BAPTIST, Rev. L. H. Wright, Pastor

Sunday School 10:00 B. T. U. 6:45
Morning Worship 11:30 Evening Worship 8:00
Sermon by Pastor Sermon by Pastor

VINEVILLE BAPTIST, Dr. J. Ellis Sammons, Pastor

Sunday School 10:00 B. T. U. 7:00
Morning Worship 11:30 Evening Worship 8:00
"The Personal Element in Religion" "Falling Lamps"

Debate . . .

continued from page 1

and Bill Lowe, acted as judges.

Bill Lowe, program chairman for the meeting, called on several of the freshmen for impromptu speeches before the debate took place. Malcolm Lester spoke on Why I Voted for Talmadge and Clyde Chivers told why she came to Mercer. Also, Jack Sellers gave his reasons for transferring from the University of Georgia. The vice-president of the society, Sara Moses, made a short pep talk to all new members.

Immediately following the de-Hendley Napier, Charles Nickerson and Burton Hayes, assisted from the audience by Bill Matheson, sang "The Strip Polka."

Law School . . .

continued from page 1

of the law school, taking the place of Dean D. Meade Field, who resigned last summer to take a position with the OPA in Washington. Mr. Barnes has been a member of the faculty for a number of years. He holds five college degrees, BBS, AB, LLB, MA, and LLM.

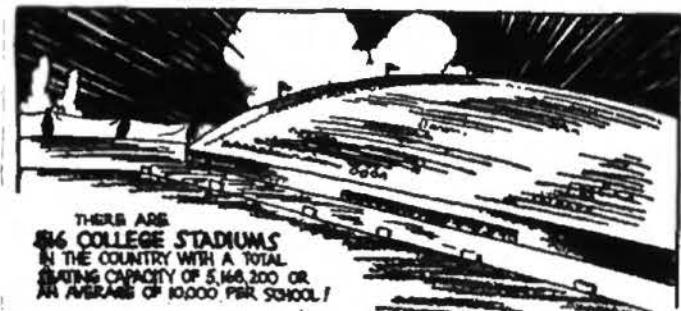

The fourth law school professor, Mr. Strozier, has been a part-time teacher for 27 years. A former city attorney, he helped to compile the Georgia Annotated Code.

It's good sense, good business and good psychology to cheer up and be merry. After all, it's gravity that keeps us down.—Boston Herald.

For Smart Wearing Apparel Shop at THE DARLING SHOP
552 Cherry Street

Welcome to
HAYES BARBER SHOP
557 CHERRY STREET

Campus Camera

THERE ARE 246 COLLEGE STADIUMS IN THE COUNTRY WITH A TOTAL SEATING CAPACITY OF 5,144,200 OR AN AVERAGE OF 10,000 PER SCHOOL!

WAY BACK WHEN WISCONSIN FIRST PLAYED MINNESOTA IN FOOTBALL, THE WISCONSIN TEAM TROTTED OUT ON THE FIELD WEARING TOP HATS. THE STUNT SO INFLATED THE COFFERS THAT THEY CRUSHED THE BADGERS 63-0!

ROBERT H. BISHOP WAS THE FIRST OF SEVEN CONSECUTIVE MINISTER-PRESIDENTS AT MIAMI UNIV.

BUY WAR STAMPS!

Patronize CLUSTER Advertisers!
(We know this is sideways, but you read it, didn't you?)

"Welcome to Macon, New Students"
WILLINGHAM SASH AND DOOR CO
457 Third Street—277

FOR THE DANCE
You will want to send
HER CORSAGES
From the ROSEY
Call or see Bill Matheson
KA Suite Phone 700

A. G. Rhodes & Son

COMPLETE HOUSE FURNISHERS
257 Second Street