CO-EDS ON PARADE

By Nita

Spring at Mercer gives anybody who is the least fashion-minded a chance to elaborate on what the well-dressed co-ed is wearing, or, if she's at Lakeside, what she isn't wearing!

Oh yes, speaking of swimming, have you seen the new two-piece suit from C. has been glittering on the Boardwalk, Barbara Smith is a cute eye-catcher in her bright one-piece suit, too.

It's a little late to mention fashions at the Kappa Sigma dance but it gives us a lot of material to chatter about. We see that "spring has really sprung" with all the light fluffy dresses that were there. Dubbs looked especially pretty, floating around the floor in her angel-white dress. It seems that blue was about the major color for evening apparel.

The intermission party Joyes gave for the Kappa Sigma's and their dates added even more grace to the affair. Dark-haired Zita in a black net dress rather "stood out" in the group by the open fire. With W.O.'s blondness they are certainly a stunning couple.

I can't change the subject of the dance, of course, without mentioning the men. The clothes shortage must be less acute now because there were more new summer tuxedos. Honest girls, weren't they handsome.

I suppose the most fashionable time in the week at M.E.P. is Sunday morning when "some" of the girls leave for church. Those who choose pajamas and housecoats for their apparel manage to hang out the windows to watch the more energetic leave. The most striking outfit I've seen this spring is Peggy Pierce in a cocoa-brown ripple-tailored suit with a fisherman-back felt hat and accessories of the same color. She has that "straight out of Vogue" look.

Remember girls, the men still go for that "sweet young thing," so keep wearing those frilly, cool cottons and complete the fashion parade.
