BELL, HEMINGWAY, AND MILLER APPOINTED TO EDITORIAL BOARD

TWELVE MAKE LAW HONOR LIST

Hal Bell, John Hemingway, and John Miller, all of Macon, were recently appointed to the Student Editorial Board at the Walter F. George School of Law, it is announced by Dean F. Hodge O'Neal.

The Student Editorial Board is of the most distinguished law school student activity. The Board is charged with supervising the preparation of student work for publication in the Georgia Bar Journal and other legal periodicals. Other members of the Board, previously appointed, are: Griffin Bell, Americus; Leonard Conger, Bainbridge; Oscar H. Marsh, Macon; T. Baldwin Martin, Jr., Macon; and Thomas H. Morton, Jamaica, New York.

The following students, due to the high scholastic average they made during the Fall Quarter in the Walter F. George School of Law, were listed on the Dean's list for that quarter: Kopoiki Muli, Honolulu; Griffin Bell, Americus; Edgar Austin, Macon; F. Mac Hardeman, Macon; John Hemingway, Macon; John Miller, Macon; Thomas H. Morton, Jamaica, New York; E. E. Peavy, Cuthbert; James Reiberg, Valdosta; A. P. Reichert, Macon; William Stanford, Valdosta; and William L. Tyson, Ashburn. The Dean's List is published at the end of each quarter and lists those students who made an 82.5, or better, average during the quarter. The attainment of the Dean's List is one of the most sought after achievements in the Law School, ranking second only to membership on the Student Editorial Board.

BSU DEPUTATION VISITS OXFORD

Fifteen Mercer students composed a deputation team which presented, last Sunday morning (Feb. 8), a program entitled "Faith" at the Allen Memorial Methodist Church of Emory Junior College, Oxford, Ga.

Featured in the presentation were the following talks: "Faith," by Millard Hunt; "Faith Without Works Is Dead," Miss Faith Lewis; and "Faith and Love," Chess Smith. The deputation was under the general direction of Carroll Wright, BSU Extension Director.

Other students participating in the service were Lenora Griner, Fainstine King, Pearl Holmes, Sara Hewson, John Stewart, Tucker Singleton, and Tommie Ward.

According to Carroll Wright, future plans of the BSU Extension Committee included deputations to various churches in Augusta, Shorter College and Berry Schools in Rome, and South Georgia College in Douglas.

STUDENT GOVERNMENT

The Student Government met Thursday, February 5th, and discussed the new constitution that is being drawn up. It is now in tentative form, but will be ready to vote on during the Spring quarter registration according to Lou Jarnagin, secretary of the Student Council.

MPB ANNOUNCES MAJOR REVISIONS

Announcement was made today by Raymond Harris, president of the Mercer University chapter of the Future Business Leaders of America, that a bulletin board in the administration building just outside Dean Burt's office will be used by the Mercer Placement Bureau as an aid in securing employment for those students desiring part-time jobs and those students dropping out of school and looking for full-time employment.

"Special effort will be made by Dean Richard C. Burts, director of the M.P.B., to find employment for graduating seniors," Harris said.

Major revisions are being made in the operational procedures of the Placement Bureau. Numerous letters of introduction have been written to business houses in the City of Macon and neighboring counties and have brought favorable results. Complete reorganization of files and other records of the M.P.B. is underway so as to bring about a more efficient means of serving the student body of Mercer.

Mercer To Attend Baptist Convention

The Mercer A Cappella Choir consisting of approximately 35 members will leave Mercer Saturday, February 14, on a three-day concert tour. The choir will present its first sacred concert at the Sunday morning service of the First Baptist Church in Sylvania. The chartered bus will then take the choir to Savannah in time for an evening engagement at the Bull Street Baptist Church. While in Savannah, the choir will present a secular concert at the Savannah High School, Monday morning. That night they will present another concert in Fitzgerald before returning to Macon.

After returning to Mercer the choir will give a concert to the Inter-City Club meeting at the Hotel Danmore, Tuesday night, February 17. The following day, Wednesday the 18th, a limited number will appear in a concert at the First Baptist Church in Hawkinsville.

Finally, Sunday, February 22, the entire choir will present a sacred concert at the local Tabernacle Baptist church.

Dr. A. L. Rich announces that the Mercer A Cappella Choir has been invited to attend the Southern Baptist Convention in Memphis, Tennessee this spring. Plans are being made to take the entire choir, consisting of 80 members. A schedule is being planned to give concerts in several Georgia and Tennessee towns en route.

Mystery of Missing Machine Causes Cops Much Concern

by Carl Woolf

A wave of criminal thievery broke out last week that threatened to disrupt the lives of the campus citizenry. Led by someone indubitably motivated by an affinity for the possessions of others, the band of miscreants first made off with an automobile owned by Hank O'Neal, Law school student.

Mr. O'Neal was at the time attending the regular session of the moot court, and had parked his car on Mercer Terrace across from the law building. It was from there that these underworld characters, after locating the ignition switch, drove away in the car.

success of the first attempt, the band later returned and tried desperately to jimmy the ignition of several other cars. A convertible belonging to Bruce Wallace was entered and severely damaged by the hoodlums. Its heavy canvas top was cut open by a sharp instrument, such as a knife, to admit entry, and the dash board was badly marred. This attempt, however, failed, and the outlaws withdrew.

Both Mr. O'Neal and Mr. Wallace notified the police promptly, who went in search of the missing vehicle. It was located some hours later abandoned on a side street on the edge of town. O'Neal identified his car and paid storage charges, as stipulated by City Ordinance.

The blackguards were not apprehended, but the Civil authorities are investigating fingerprints found on the windshield, and it is expected that the whole filthy crew will soon be brought to justice.

SUCCESSFUL DRIVE REPORTED BY MATE

The Mercer Aid to Europe drive made its first report Saturday through an announcement by John J. Simmons, co-chairman of the MATE Committee. During the drive, begun two months ago, clothing for twenty-two women, thirty-six men, one girl and six boys were collected in boxes placed at convenient points on the campus. The apparel thus donated by students is sent to New York, where it is prepared for shipment to needy people in Europe.

Chairman Simmons and Frances Clements acknowledged the unselfish contributions of Mercer Students who are making the drive successful and stressed the great need which yet remains for comfortable clothing in Northern Europe.

The steering committee of MATE is composed of Dean Burts, Rev. Jim Stertz, and Dr. Kelly Barnett.

AMERICUS WOMAN WILLS M. U. $5,000

An Americus woman, Mrs. Deborah Jackson, widow of the late Mr. Phil Jackson, died last week leaving a total of $25,000 to Baptist institutions of this state.

The sum of $5,000 was provided in the will as a gift to Mercer University. Other institutions which were beneficiaries of the estate were the Georgia Baptist orphans home, Americus First Baptist Church, the Georgia Baptist Convention and its mission programs,

Six Mercerians Make Application For U.S. Air Force Training

Six Mercer men have applied for training offered by the United States Air Force. Lt. Col. William A. Taylor, senior member of the U.S. Air Force training cadet team announces.

Applying for Aviation Cadet Pilot Training are: Herbert E. Alexander, Jr., Valdosta; Justus T. Trimble, Jr., Macon; and Stanford E. Wilson, Fitzgerald. Applying for the Officer Candidate Training are: Ralph L. Smith, Thomasville; Jesse M. Sellers, Jr., Summerville; and Charles A. Glenn, Cairo.

These men will continue their studies at Mercer until their graduation, at which time they will enter training in the Air Force. If they are successful they will receive officer ratings and go on active duty in flight or administrative work.

Physics Club Plans Short Wave Station

The Mercer University Physics Club plans to begin work soon on a short wave radio station, according to Robert E. Lehman, Johnstown, Penn., president.

The station will be built from army surplus equipment already on hand in the physics department. Lehman said "the purpose is to give club members an opportunity to learn more about the fundamentals of radio through practical experience."

Although it is not known how long it will take to get the equipment set up, Lehman said that several students holding radio operator licenses have offered their services, and he expressed belief that the transmitter will be in operation soon.

LIBRARIANS SELECT MAGAZINE ARTICLES

The outstanding magazine articles of the month, as selected by a council of leading librarians, can now be found in Hardman Library, according to Librarian Charles H. Stone.

A chart near the magazine racks lists the articles and the magazines in which they appear. Of those listed, the ones available in the library are marked.

Although the chart is a monthly service of Harper and Huggers, Publishers, the selections, Mr. Stone said, are impartial and representative of the best in periodical literature excluding those articles which are of a digest nature.

Last month's selections, all of which are in the library are: "The Coming Wage Price Spiral," by Stephen Roushenbush, in Harpers; "The Containment of Soviet Power," by G. B. Thomas, in Harpers; "World Communism Has Passed its Peak," by Martin Ebon, in American Mercury; "Psychiatry, Today," by William C. Menninger, M.D., in Atlantic Monthly; "Can We Check Inflation," by Jacob Viner in the Yale Review; "Shall We Have Airplanes," Fortune Magazine; "Fiasco in Food" by Frederick J. Stone, M.D., in Atlantic Monthly; "Britain's Present Crisis," by C. William Vogel, in the Yale Review; and "Psychology as an Asset to Society," by Dr. Gardner-Murphy, in Survey Graphic.
