The Mercer netmen made another attempt to break into the tennis win column today on Mercer Courts at 2 p.m.

PHI MU, AD PI TO HOLD DANCES

The Alumnae of Phi Mu Fraternity will sponsor an old-fashioned Square Dance, May 7, at St. Joseph's Catholic Church from 8 to 11 p.m. "Peanut" Faircloth and his hillbilly string band will be on hand to supply the music. Tickets for the dance may be purchased from members of Phi Mu on the Mercer campus. The admission price is set at forty-eight cents.

The Alumnae of Alpha Delta Pi sorority will sponsor a Bowery Ball at the Y.M.C.A. on April 29 at 7:30 p.m. Tickets are on sale at fifty cents each with or without a date. These may be obtained from members of Alpha Delta Pi.

FIFTY TO MEET FOR KS CONCLAVE

Approximately 50 Kappa Sigma fraternity delegates will gather on the Mercer campus Friday for a two-day district conclave. The Alpha Beta chapter of Mercer is host for the occasion.

In addition to the local group, chapters sending delegates are Alpha Tau of Georgia Tech, Beta Lambda of Georgia, Beta of Alabama, Beta Eta of Auburn, Delta Delta of Florida, Epsilon Beta of Miami, and the Star and Crescent Club, embryo chapter of Emory.

An open house at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Julian C. Crossley in honor of Bernard N. Neal, district president, is the first event after registration Friday afternoon.

Delegates will join members of the local chapter at the annual Kappa Sigma spring formal in the Shrine Mosque at 8:30 p.m. Friday. Sally McKay, Macon, Kappa Sigma sponsor, will entertain the party during intermission. Immediately following the dance breakfasts will be served the guests in the Camellia room.

Business meetings are scheduled for Willingham chapel Saturday morning, and a buffet supper will be served by the Kappa Sigma Mother's club in the Faculty Trustee Room at 6 o'clock that evening. The conclave will close with an instruction school presided over by President Neal in the biology lecture room.

Law School Takes Holiday At Lake

A legal holiday was declared by Dean O'Neal for the entire law school for a day of fellowship and fun at Jonesco Lake. The holiday began Tuesday morning with the group enjoying swimming, golf, boating, dancing and light refreshments.

After a barbecue supper the group was entertained by a floor show, followed by a bridge tournament. The entire party was sponsored by the law school student government. D. B. Mercer headed the committee in charge of entertainment. The entire faculty and student body were there.

SOCIALLY SPEAKING

Gene Etheridge of Perry was elected as outstanding pledge of the Alpha Tau Omega fraternity for the Winter quarter.

The annual Kappa Sigma formal dance will be given by the Alumni of the fraternity on Friday night at the Shrine Mosque.

The annual Old South Ball will be given by the Kappa Alpha fraternity alumni in honor of the brothers and pledges on Saturday night. The dance is a closed affair.

Mr. Ralph Newton, traveling secretary of the Lambda Chi Alpha fraternity, was a visitor on Mercer campus last week. He spoke to the brothers at fraternity meeting Wednesday night, and at a joint meeting of the brothers and pledges at the First Christian Church he met with them again.

A house party at Vogel State Park will be given by the Sigma Nu fraternity on the week-end of the eighth of May for the brothers, pledges and dates.

Ann Burkhalter, Baxley, and Dorothy Andrews, Carnegie, were initiated into Alpha Delta Pi Sorority Friday, April 16. A luncheon was given Saturday at Fay's Restaurant in honor of the new members.

The brothers and pledges of Phi Delta Theta entertained their dates recently with a hay ride and informal party at Lake Jonesco near Gray.

Bob McHenry, field secretary of Phi Delta Theta, visited the Georgia Gamma chapter for three days last week. McHenry came down from national headquarters in Oxford, Ohio.

In Style . . . with gerrie and beckie

with gerrie and beckie

Mercer girls are noted for their beauty but this year the beauty of a modern miss is judged in terms of charm, style, grace, ability to wear the new look, etc. We would like to know if you agree with In Style on the ten Mercer girls whom a board of girls consider the best dressed. Mercer Misses, then the boys will voice their opinions and we will compare notes for the top five most likely to make Vogue. Next week we will announce the board.

The IFC dances were a big success in fun and clothes. We were so impressed with the clothes that we could hardly keep our eyes on the stage line.

Jackie Ward was a refreshing picture in green organdy in contrast with her red hair. The fitted bodice was topped by an organdy fluff which fell gracefully around her shoulders. Her costume was high-lighted by a rhinestone clip worn on a black velvet ribbon.

An illusion of moon mist was Charlie Barron in her white satin strapless, made on simple lines accentuating her blond attractiveness.

Betty Anne Langston's petiteness was high-lighted by blue organdy which featured ruffles around her shoulders. The full skirt featured a deep ruffle at the bottom, which swirled gracefully as she danced.

In a pastel pink ballerina length formal, Mary Eunice Jordan was a delightful reproduction of the "new look." The fitted lace bodice was combined with a full net skirt.

The stags couldn't and didn't resist Fran Clements, who looked as if she'd just stepped from the pages of Seventeen in her ensemble of dainty white, trimmed with a pink satin sash. White baby-doll shoes added charm to her costume.

Mrs. Don Horton was striking in white waffle pique, which featured wide lace straps, fitted bodice, and flowing skirt. A sash of pastel blue accented her tiny waist-line.

Till next week, when we will be reminding you again that you too can be in style.
