

ANNOUNCE CLASS GRID SCHEDULE

First Games Dated For January 26.

Class football will begin on January 4th according to Coach Robinson, who is now formulating plans for a yearly program of class football to begin this year.

He has called meetings of all the classes to elect managers and to make plans for the games. His plan is to have each class elect a manager, who with himself, Coach Mosely and Coach Gillam, will form a council to decide all questions that arise. This court will select coaches for the various teams from among the varsity men of this year. All men who have at any time been members of the regular squad and have earned letters are ineligible. Coach Mosely has also barred about fifteen freshmen who will receive numerals for their work of this year's freshman team.

The first practice of the year will be called on January 4. Coach Robinson is very anxious that as large a number of men as possible shall respond to this practice. Since it is planned to make class football a yearly event here, there are chances that some men who did not go out for the team, but who possess real football talent, will be discovered.

After the first two days of practice the coaches will cut their squads to fifteen men each. Each man will be provided with a suit and practice will be held each afternoon for three weeks.

At the end of the three weeks the first games will be played, the seniors and soph's being billed to open the season.

The schedule follows:
Jan. 26—Seniors vs. Sophomores.
Juniors vs. Freshmen
Feb. 2.—Seniors vs. Freshmen.
Juniors vs. Sophomores.
Feb. 9—Seniors vs. Juniors.
Sophomores vs. Freshmen.

Johnny Jones Hailed As Hero When Giving Fire Company Lesson

Heroes may come and heroes may go, but once in a while heroes are apt to be found idling around Mercer University, waiting patiently to fush in where angels fear to tread and rescue some fair creature, or do something equally as heroic to the wild applause of the hero worshipping multitudes.

At least that was the way it all happened the other night when some one turned in a fire alarm out on Linden avenue. The fire department answered—three gigantic, roaring, snorting, trucks strong, while the brave fireman like you read about rushed in the house, armed with fire extinguishers.

Electric wires, threatening to turn the home into a mass of flames, were the source of trouble. The firemen tried in vain to do something with their fire extinguishers.

Then it was that the hero walked in like they do in the play. The hero this time was a Mercer man—John G. Jones. Calmly walking into the house, glancing at the fiery looking wires, he coolly turned the switch, and it was all over. The fire was out—darkness—and the fire extinguishers didn't do any good as long as there was a hero on the job!

PHI DELTAS BUY PINS

When the members of the Phi Delta literary society left the hall last Monday evening a good pin bearing the Greek letters Phi Delta could be seen on their coat lapels. Each member now has the society insignia.

The officers elected for the month of December were as follows: President, Fred Caylor; vice-president, Bela Lancaster; critic, W. A. Bootle; censor, Hillyer Straton; chaplain, J. L. Drake. R. E. Walker, W. O. Dorrough and G. Emmitt Snellgrove were appointed to serve on the program for the ensuing term.

During the presidency of Dr. W. L. Pickard, Mrs. Pickard, who is a sister of Mrs. Bessie Tift, for whom Bessie Tift College is named, completed a huge oil painting of a Biblical scene on which she had worked for five years. Mrs. Pickard's works in oil are still admired by many lovers of art in Macon.

Weaver's Dog About To Disrupt Penfield

Dormitory Canine Said To Be Causus Belli

From the whines and groans and growls that reverberate through the wee hours of the morning, disturbing the troubled slumber of the inmates of Penfield Hall, John Weaver must be a firm believer in the old saying, "The more I see of men the better I like my dog."

Anyway, a big, shaggy, brown collie is causing more profanity down Penfield way than anything else in the history of the dormitory. Incidentally the said John Weaver gets his share of it, too. Especially when some tired stude has retired for the night (after saying his prayers) and is anxious to repair his weary, over-studious brain with a few hours precious sleep. Then when the snores are just getting in tune, the big collie belonging to John Weaver gets into action.

We are wondering if John likes the blamed critter as much as all that. It is even hinted that he has been sneaking grub out of the dining hall in order to feed the pest.

MERCERIANS END SERVICE ON GRID

(Continued from page three) more, Mike Herndon has played every minute, excepting one, in every game of the past season, and has never called time out for injuries he received while playing.

W. M. Barron is another who has made an exceptionally good record, having missed only a few practices in his freshman year on account of sickness.

In addition to this, these men have managed to make good grades in their studies, a thing which many men with more time at their disposal cannot say for themselves.

These men were always on the job. They never quit. And, though they have now finished their football careers at Mercer, the memory of their achievements will linger long after their departure.

They have been instrumental in developing the true Mercer spirit, the never-give-up spirit that makes the Mercer eleven what O. B. Keeler, of the Atlanta Journal, calls "one of the gamest, hardest fighting teams I ever saw."

COACH ROBINSON IS ALREADY PREPARING FOR SEASON OF '24

Although this is Coach Robinson's first year at Mercer he has already begun to make the Mercer team felt throughout the country, and has won the admiration and respect of all his men. He has put new life and new blood into the team this year, and has been instrumental in developing a new fighting spirit in the Mercer eleven and in the Mercer student body. Coach Robinson, who was last year the football coach at Mississippi College, is an alumnus of Colgate University, having made the All-American team while at that university.

Coaches M. P. Gillam and E. P. Mosely have ably assisted Coach

Robinson in his work, the latter having charge of the freshman squad.

Gillam, formerly associated with Mississippi, is said to be one of the best basketball coaches in the South; such is the statement made by some of the Mississippi men themselves.

These three, Robinson, Mosely and Gillam, have done much towards developing the hard fighting team and instilling in their men the spirit of the school.

Coach Robinson is very anxious that the Mercer student body take more interest in football. In fact, he says unless more interest and more spirit is shown by the student body as a whole Mercer can never expect to put out a great football team.

"Mercer must develop a real football family," declared Coach Stanley emphatically, "if we are ever to succeed in football next year."
