Shakespeare Testifies On Finals

As we approach the sacred date of examination week, let us incline our thoughts to what William Shakespeare had to say on the subject in his tragedies.

Studying in the Library

More light, you knaves; and turn the tables up,
And quench the fire, the room is grown too hot.

Romeo and Juliet, Act I, Scene 5

Cramming at Midnight

'Tis now the very witching time of night,
When churchyards yawn, and hell itself breathes out
Contagion, to this world: now could I drink hot blood
And do such bitter business as the day
Would quake to look on.

Hamlet, Act III, Scene 3

Cramming at 3 a.m.

How weary, stale, flat and unprofitable
Seem to me all the uses of this world!

Hamlet, Act I, Scene 2

Cramming at 7 a.m.

It is not for your health thus to commit
Your weak condition to the raw cold morning.

Julius Caesar, Act II, Scene 1

Day of First Exam Arrives

O woe! O woeful, woeful day,
Most lamentable day, most woeful day,
That ever, ever, I did yet behold!
O day! O day! O day! O hateful day!
Never was seen so black a day as this:
O woeful day! O woeful day!

Romeo and Juliet, Act IV, Scene 5

Waiting for Tests to be Given Out

Between the acting of a dreadful thing
And the first motion, all the interim is
Like a phantasma or a hideous dream.

Julius Caesar, Act II, Scene 1

Cheating, Pro

Come, you spirits
That tend on mortal thoughts, unsex me here,
And fill me, from the crown to the toe, top-full
Of direct cruelty! make thick my blood,
Stop up the access and passage to remorse,
That no compunctious visitors of nature
Shake my fell purpose, not keep peace between
The effect and it!

Macbeth, Act I, Scene 5

Cheating, Con

Neither a borrower nor a lender be:
For loan oft loses both itself and friend,
And borrowing dulls the edge of husbandry.
This above all; to thine own self be true,
And it must follow, as the night the day,
Thou canst not then be false to any man.

Hamlet

Fountain Pen Leaks

Out, damned spot! out, I say!

Macbeth, Act V, Scene 1

Emerging from Test

No hat upon his head, his stockings foul'd,
Ungarter'd and down-gyved to his ankle;
Pale as his shirt, his knees knocking each other,
And with a look so piteous in purport
As if he had been loosed out of hell
To speak of horrors, he come before me.

Hamlet, Act II, Scene 1

Meeting Professors at Co-op

Hence! home, you idle creatures, get you home:
Is this a holiday?

Julius Caesar, Act I, Scene 1

Optimist Waiting for Marks

If I may trust the flattering truth of sleep,
My dreams presage some joyful news at hand.

Romeo and Juliet, Act V, Scene 1

Pessimist Waiting for Marks

Stay, then: I'll go alone: fear comes upon me;
O, much I fear some ill unlucky thing.

Romeo and Juliet, Act V, Scene 3

The Marks Arrive

To be, or not to be: that is the question.

LETTERS TO EDITOR

Dogood Chairman Condemns Sugar Thieves

Mercer University
Macon, Georgia
April 11, 1961

Editor, The Mercer Cluster
Mercer University
Macon, Georgia
Dear Editor:

We of the Dogood committee have spent this entire week in a state of mortal discontent. Last Saturday morning there came to us the shocking news of unheard-of vandalism among the student body, all directed against the actions of Dogood. These no-account people, whoever they were, do not deserve the name of university student. Especially not of Dogood's University, anyway.

Mr. Editor, someone took the sugar containers out of the cafeteria (note how this would defeat noble Dogood's plan to save Mercer U. money) and put them on somebody's porch. Of course the Dogood committee would like to know who they are. We would like to express to them personally our dissatisfaction at their not understanding the real nature of Dogood's reforms in the Mercer Cafeteria.

But nevertheless, while these people waste their time, Dogood seems to be continuing bravely his wondrous work in the cafeteria. Hurray!

Sincerely,
Unworthy Chairman of the Dogood Committee

P. S. Thank you for printing our letter last week. We are still trying to determine the identity of our tireless benefactor. We're sure his identity will be revealed by popular demand when work begins on the new wing.

Students Liked Singing

April 11, 1961

Editor,
Mercer Cluster
Dear Sir:

The singing group in chapel Tuesday provided one of the most enjoyable programs we have had in a long time. More of this kind of entertainment ought to be offered, in my opinion.

It seems that a couple of other students differed from me in their views about the singing. Maybe they believe the only type of music we should hear is hymns.

Let Tuesday be for the enjoyment of we (sic) students who are not such squares!

Sincerely,
Miss Name Withheld.

P. S. I don't want (sic) all the ministerial students down my throat, so if you print this you might leave my name off!

Circle K Elects Flanders Head

Jim Flanders of Swainsboro was elected president of the Circle "K" Club at a meeting on April 4. Elected to serve with him were Tom Bowden of Manchester, vice-president; Jere Key of Atlanta, secretary; and Tommy Faircloth, Thomasville, treasurer.

The new officers took office at the end of that meeting. They succeeded John Black, president; Lindsay Simpson, vice-president; Bob Garrett, secretary; and Edge Farley, treasurer.

Circle "K" is an international campus service club, sponsored by Kiwanis International. The local club is planning to send several delegates and alternates to the international convention of Circle "K" at St. Petersburg, Florida, in August. Last year Jim Willingham was elected a trustee of southeast area at the international convention in Toronto, Canada.

the true god.
The contest is one of the most powerful in the whole oratorio. The priests of Baal aren't able to get Baal to respond, despite their self mutilation. Finally Elijah becomes the center of attention, calls upon Jehovah who sends lightning to devour the offering and the water poured over it. After this, the prophets of Baal are killed. Jezebel, being offended, threatens to kill Elijah, but he escapes.

The last scene in the oratorio tells of his being taken into the heaven in a whirlwind.

Spiro At William and Mary
Dean Robert H. Spiro Jr. of the liberal arts college was at the college of William and Mary as part of a three-man inspection team during the first of the week.

Spiro was a part of a committee sent out by the Southern Association of Colleges to visit various schools accredited by the association.

New Chapel Cut Policy Adopted

A new policy has been arranged on chapel cuts, according to Mrs. Martha D. Maddox, assistant to the deans in charge of chapel seat checking. From now on no notices of excessive chapel cuts will be mailed until the end of the quarter.

However, if a student wishes to know the number of cuts he has, he may find out by checking with Mrs. Maddox in room 302 of the student center from 11-12 a. m. and from 3-4 p.m.

The "new" policy is actually a return to a former policy, Mrs. Maddox said. The idea of sending notices to students who had over cuts was to eliminate excessive absences from chapel, but Mrs. Maddox felt that the efforts of prevention were not effective. So, beginning with the spring quarter, no notices of excessive absences will be mailed until the end of the quarter.
