

Griffin, July 5. 1862.

Marcus H. Bunn & Wife:

My very Dear Friends:

I see the death of "Henry Bunn" [?] in the Macon papers, and supposed is to be your oldest born. If so, the Lord help you! I only wish to spare you of the deep sympathy felt by my Wife and myself on this occasion, and of our poor prayers in your behalf. Oh that the Blessed spirit may pour [?] only consolation into your bleeding hearts! "As your day is, so may your strength be!"

I have had typhoid fever for weeks past, and am now barely able to sit up, and write these few lines. Do let us hear from you, and give my particulars.

Affectionately yours_

J.H. Campbell